PRESIDENT'S REPORT

They say that sport is a great leveller and certainly season 1990/91 brought Manly back to earth with a thud. After three consecutive seasons in the top two of the Club Championship, with a premiership in each year, we dropped into the ruck. And yet I am convinced that it was a short term phenomenon and we will be back at or near the top again next year.

Why did we slump? There were a number of factors, the most important of which was the loss of seven or eight players from the top grades. This meant that many players had an opportunity to play at a higher level than previously. Whilst they will all benefit from that experience, it took time for them to adjust to the change in standard. There were signs, however, in the latter third of the season, that we were getting back on track. Our younger players were becoming more consistent and improved performances were evident. Morale in the Club and amongst the players remained high, with good practice attendances. Thanks for this are due to Club Captain, Steve Whitfield, coach Sam Mesite and the indefatigable Don Sellin, as well as to Andrew Fraser and his social committee.

A number of players achieved representative honours (Dick Fry, Shawn Bradstreet, Craig Glassock) and are to be congratulated. I would like also to thank all the people who help make the club run - the committee, the captains, the scorers, as well as the many who chip in to do their bit. These include team managers, helpers with afternoon teas and supporters of all types. Be assured that your efforts are noticed and very much appreciated.

Thanks are also due to people and groups external to the Club - our sponsors, Unisys, Harbour Ford and the Tequila Restaurant, the Manly Council and Merv and Louise, and the N.S.W. Cricket Association.

Sadly, I have to record the passing of Len Soman, one of our life members. The club extends its deepest sympathy to Len's wife and family.

In conclusion, let me assure the Club of the Committee's commitment to addressing the factors necessary to return us to the top of the table. The most important factor, however, is the continued efforts of every player to practice, improve and perform to the maximum of his ability. Let's get back up there.

Jim Stewart

Ladies and Gentlemen,

The Management Committee takes pleasure in submitting for your consideration and adoption the 113th Annual Report together with the Club's Financial Statement for the year ended 30 April 1991.

After three successful seasons in a row, it came as a bitter pill for us to languish in the bottom half of the Club Championship. Mind you we were not in too bad company with Bankstown and Northern Districts accompanying us in our slide.

It must be conceded our playing strength was not as competitive as in the previous seasons having lost too many good bowlers prior to the season beginning - however - it is the writer's belief that the shake up of our fellow clubs in recent years, with the talk of a promotion, relegation, super comps and the like, that has seen a much more professional attitude of all the clubs in the Sydney grade competition. They all had a look at how Manly and Bankstown had tightened their organisation (with club coaches etc) and gotten their acts together - and - be assured there are going to be fewer easybeats from here on in. This is a good thing for cricket and a serious challenge to our Club.

Only our second grade threatened to make the end of season final series with the Club finishing 15th in the Club Championship, 16th in first grade, 5th in second grade, 15th in third grade, 17th in fourth grade, 15th in fifth grade, 7th in division B of Poidevin Gray and 9th in the Northern Division of the Green Shield.

Whilst it is not the role of this report to offer one person's opinion, the writer would be remiss if as a general overview I didn't state that the loss of discipline that first manifest itself so far back as Christmas 1989, coupled of course with the lack of balance in our teams this season, and a policy decision by Committee before the season started that saw us erroneously move away from toughness (for the wrong reasons) meant we stopped winning the close ones - even had trouble winning the games we should have won - and - the reverse multiplier effect which goes with the psyche of cricket saw us crash out as the other clubs sensed the upperhand and rammed it into us.

The Club needs to regroup - which it will - return to toughness through the proven disciplines at all club levels - which it should - and get on the road again. The talent's still there but it has to be managed much better.

First Grade lost balance when it lost the steadying hand of Kerry Mackay. The team virtually had to learn a new methodology on how to win. Towards the end of the season, the right mix of players was starting to emerge. Greg Bush, Richard Fry and Roly Alexander dominated the batting however, the bowling couldn't provide the support. Warren Evans and Stephen Whitfield were always competitive however, the balance in the bowling wasn't there. Maybe the advent of Shawn Bradstreet may be the answer.

The second grade came within a whisker of making the four. They dropped a few matches early in the season for which they paid dearly. The team bats very well and bristles with potential first graders who must soon proceed to first grade.

The third grade had a season in two halves. They didn't win a game till after Christmas then at the end won five games virtually on the trot.

Fourth grade, by design, was a very young side. Amongst these lads are some of the Club's future stars. A change of captain mid season didn't do the young fellows any good and they lost their way towards the end.

The fifth grade was simply never allowed to obtain balance. A finalist the previous two seasons, it must have been frustrating for captain Tony Scanlon to never have the same team match to match.

Poidevin Gray promised a lot however succumbed to the malaise of indifference that besets this competition. Changes in format for next season hopefully regenerates interest in this competition. Nonetheless, the performances of captain Miles Corish must surely see him in first grade next season.

Green Shield has become a most difficult competition to administer. The Association have seen fit to reduce the number of games here as well for next season. Gordon Currie and Bob Bregner looked after our fellows in exemplary fashion and whilst we didn't have the heady results of the previous year, we do have an excellent platform for next year as it was only lack of experience that saw the boys drop a succession of early games that knocked them over.

From what you have read, it is easy to think the Club was lacking. Cricket wise the results confirm this however, the actual attendance and harmony at practise was always up to expectations. It was simply the toughness that was missing. This is what made it so hard to rectify. Chairman of the Selectors, Frank Turner and Coach Sam Mesite had a most difficult task and the Club thanks them for the hours they put into it.

The Club and the Committee also thank the captains Stephen Whitfield, Tim Blank, Gary Flowers, Greg Hayes/Greg Boyer and Tony Scanlon of the grade teams and Miles Corish of Poidevin Gray and Craig Currie of Green Shield. To captain any side in a grade club is a big task and when there are losing sequences theirs is a lonely task.

We again thank Merv and Louise for their work on the grounds and it was great to see Louise at our Annual Dinner having made a full recovery from her nasty operation. We also thank Manly Council for their co-operation. We recognise times are changing and 1992 could see some dramatic changes in responsibility for playing field costs.

The Sydney Cricket Association continues to bring pressure on us for a third turf wicket which in turn continues to cause worry to Committee. Someday an answer to the problem simply has to be found.

During the season, the annual match with the Warringah Shire Club unfortunately had to be abandoned and the Trinity Cup match didn't materialise. A successful Past Vs Present match was staged. Attendances as it were not particularly good, however, the day itself was excellent.

"The Manly Daily" again gave excellent coverage. David Moore always seemed to have a good article and Greg Bush's excellent column was also given its weekly feature. Our sincere thanks to David, Greg and the sporting editor. Greg's is a difficult article to produce week after week without some controversy, and he does an excellent job as his strongest attribute is "he means what he says".

The Club has been able to send a representative team on an end of season tour of Thailand and Europe. At the time of writing, the players have completed the England and Scotland section and are so far undefeated. All of us who stayed at home are now green with envy.

With all the problems we had this year our connections with the Juniors, Schools and the Shires suffered somewhat. Hopefully, this can be rectified next season as the Club revamps itself. We draw your attention to the schools competition report included in this Report and our sincere thanks to Tom Hart, Ted Wilkinson and their helpers that keep these competitions going.

We draw your attention to the Treasurer's Report. The Club slipped back into a loss situation and it continues to be a financial struggle. We must raise over $20,000 a year in addition to registration fees and is a thankless task for those with the worry. Your assistance is respectfully asked for and we thank Lionel Banbury for his spread sheets that continually alert us to our shortcomings.

The writer joins with President Jim in thanking the other members of the Management Committee for their work throughout the year. The new member was Gavin Fletcher and we particularly thank him. The cloak of poor results found some shortcomings as the vast majority of Committee had no experience at administering a club with problems and all things being equal, they stuck to their task much better than some critics give them credit for.

Our thanks also go to our sponsors. Without sponsorship we go nowhere. Unisys was our principal sponsor with Pacific Ford and Tequila Restaurant helping in lesser roles. Sponsors provide us with the opportunity to play as a Club and we ask all persons reading this report or associated with cricket in the Manly Warringah District to always ask yourself "what can we do for Unisys, Pacific Ford and Tequila Restaurant". Sponsorship is not a one way street and we must be sure to fulfil our obligations on and off the field.

Last but not least, we thank the band of people who help the Committee run the Club. Without these people, we would be totally lacking in the finesse.

The lads on the scoreboard.

Wendy Stewart for a whole range of things including the use of her home for monthly meetings.

John Lannon for help with the Room at the Top.

Ian Barnes as the Club auditor.

Tom Brooks and Lindsay Kain for being the umpires who we always run to for help.

For and on behalf of the Management Committee.

TREASURER'S REPORT AND FINANCIAL STATEMENT

1990/91 was not a successful cricket season for the Club. The financial statements also reflect the lack of success achieved on the cricket field. The Club showed a deficit for the year of $2,284.00 compared with a surplus of $595.00 for the previous year.

Total income was down from $25,310.00 in 1989/90 to $22,763.00 due to decreases in sponsorship receipts, $1,500.00, promotions and social function income, $1,908.00 and prize money, $1,150.00.

Operating expenses for the year totalled $25,048.00 which was $236.00 or 1.3% higher than the previous year. Increased coaching and player incentives $1,299.00 and sundry expenses $1,953.00 were offset by the reduction in bad debts $3,348.00.

COACHING REPORT

The 1990-91 season, just completed, has ended in disappointment with no Manly side reaching the Semi-Finals and the Club finishing lowly in the Club Championship.

In analysing the Club's performance, the reasons should be broken into the following categories:

- * Club Coach
- * Players (Attitude, Commitment)
- * Facilities
- * Grade Captains
- * Playing strength

Club Coach

As a former player, of only three seasons ago, the majority of current players were with the Club prior to my retirement. As a result, there was obviously a problem with players being too familiar with myself, this leading to a certain amount of complacency and lethargy when instructions were issued. With an outsider (e.g. Alan Campbell) this problem did not occur. I do concede that as a Club Coach, I was responsible for players' attitude and obviously the attitude in some cases were disappointing.

Players

With any amateur sport, where players are paying to play the game, you can not expect compulsory attendance at training and total commitment.

In running a grade sport, the Club can expect players to attend practise and to fully utilize the time and facilities available. This unfortunately was not the case as many players believed that by just attending practise sessions, the attendance was enough. Unfortunately, it was these players who were disruptive to others who were "having a go".

Players by practising bad habits, contributed to poor performances, e.g. fast-bowlers bowling no-balls at training and bowling short on bad tracks. Batsmen getting out some 2 or 3 times in a net session or 10-15 minutes, means that not many runs would have been scored.

Facilities

Practise wickets on most occasions were acceptable, but more work on the wickets would have had them at a better standard. Problems with Council obviously meant that we are not in a position to complain. From my experience, the practise wickets were as good as at any time in the past. Bad wickets at practise serve as an opportunity to some batsmen to stand and slog and not try to bat the session without getting out. Bowlers by bowling short on bad wickets also get a false sense of their form.

Cricket balls, or rather a shortage of cricket balls, were always a problem. Five grades by 16 rounds should mean about 80 balls. Add say another 10-15 balls for 2nd Innings, and new balls after 85 overs and that should be approximately 100 balls. At the last practise session, we had less than 10 balls to practise with. Obviously more care is to be taken with the match-balls by Captains and all concerned.

A turf wicket for Fifth Grade is urgently required, but the problems involved there are understood.

Grade Captains

Captains for each of the sides must be made aware of the time required to do a proper job. Captains MUST have the time to attend practise sessions and make sure that players under their control are practising properly. Unfortunately, the Captains of Second Grade, Fourth Grade and towards the end of the season, Fifth Grade, were not in attendance at enough sessions. I again appreciate that these problems will always exist in an Amateur sport but when appointing Captains, the Committee must have certain expectations.

Playing Strength

The loss of players from First and Second Grades at the beginning of last season obviously affected the depth of the Club's playing strength. Generally, the Club lacked a strike bowler in First Grade but the experience gained by Warren Evans, Shaun Bradstreet and David Gainsford will hold them in good stead for future years.

The Club's batting was adequate with Greg Bush, Richard Fry and Roly Alexander, in First Grade, showing the way. Other batting positions in First Grade must surely be up for grabs next season. The lack of big scores in Second Grade was a major concern. Players like Corish, Blank, Minnett, Johnson and Ford should have been capable of making hundreds and really pushing for First Grade spots.

Depending on the availability of last seasons playing staff, the Club must now pursue new players for next season. Decisions must be made now about the players needed for First Grade must be pursued as I feel that by bolstering First Grade by a few players, the rest of the playing strength will filter through the lower Grades.

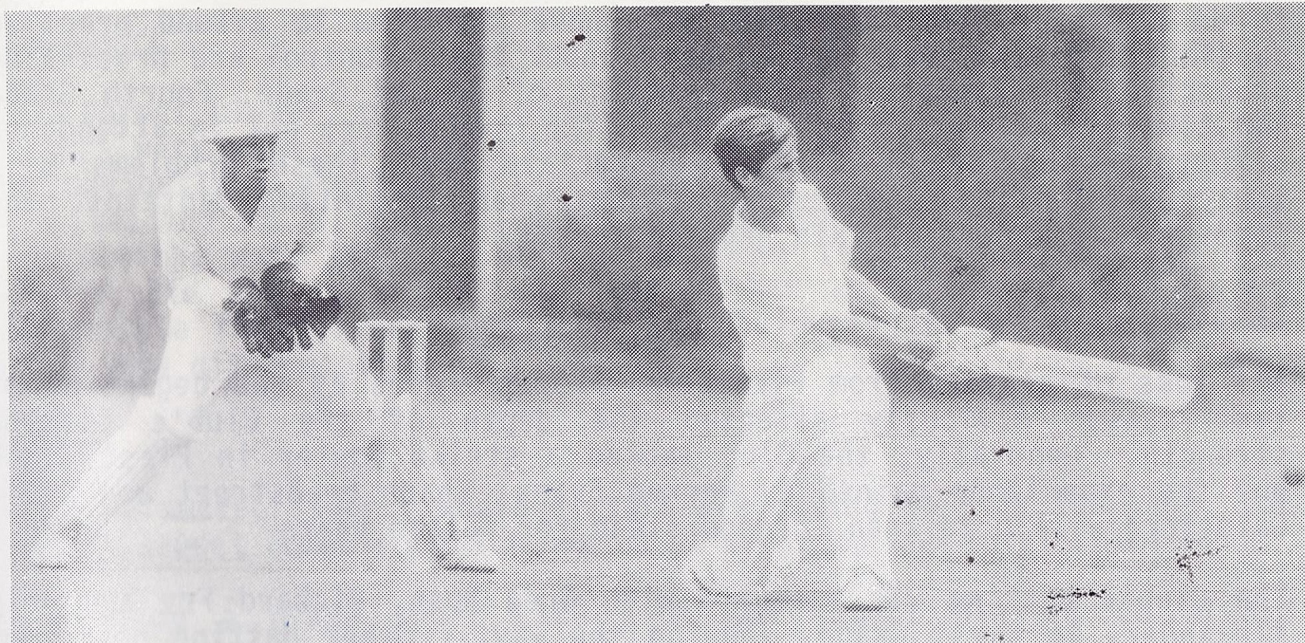

The Club this season had players playing in a grade higher than their ability warranted, which affected the Club's performance. In the long term, this will be beneficial as these players will gain from the experience.

Generally, the above problems, and others, contributed to the Club's poor performances, but as Club Coach I feel that lack of effort and preparation more than lack of ability, was a major reason for our poor performance. Of all the players I feel that 60% gave maximum effort with the remainder just going through the motions.

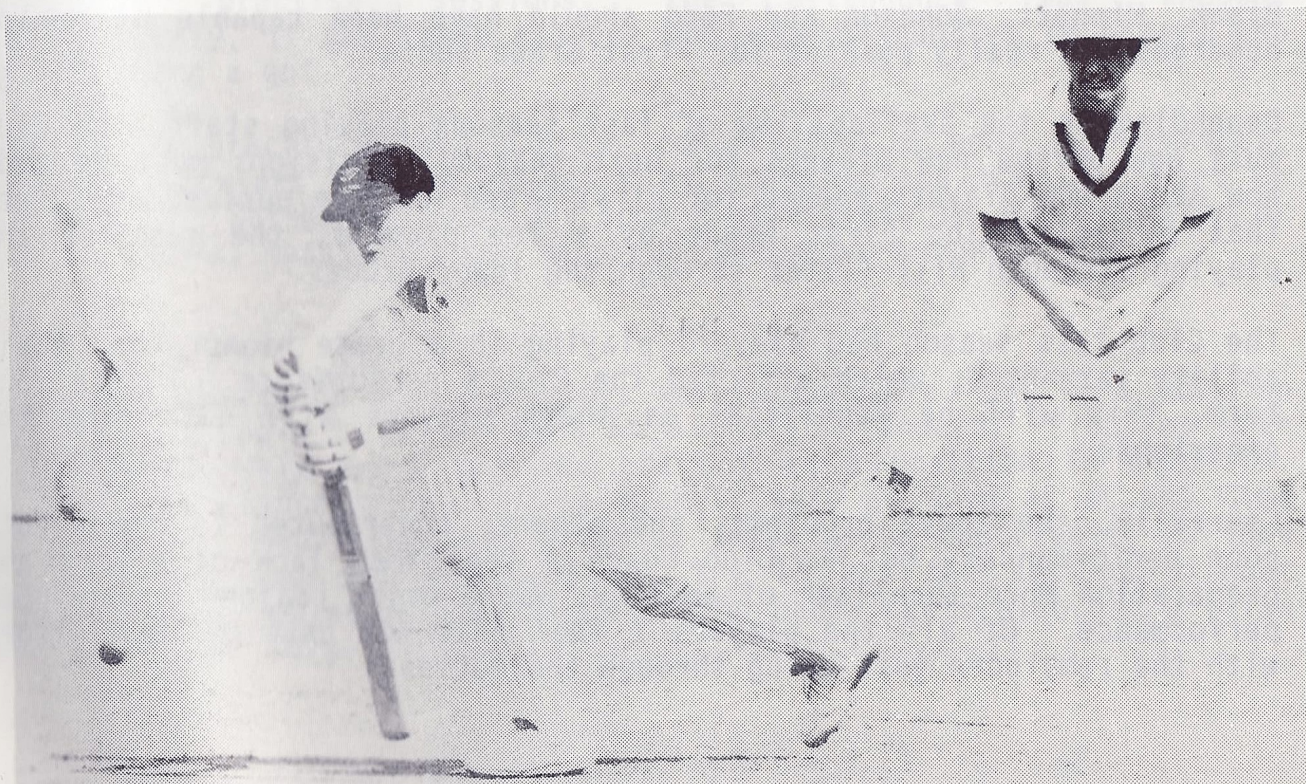

Personally, I am open-minded over next season's appointment as Club Coach, but I would certainly take a different approach into next year's coaching system. I would set up a system of Practise Co-ordinators, each in charge of a specific skill with myself over viewing. Co-ordinators would change say weekly, with all players being utilized. This may be discussed prior to my overseas trip on 27th April 1991, or after my return at the end of July 1991.

Finally, I take this opportunity to thank the Committee for its backing and especially Don Sellin for his great assistance to myself and the Club.

It's time to review our past season and consider the future. Expectations were high, however, this was not matched by pre-season training or the season in general and when one looks at the talent in the team it was a disappointing time for all.

This season the draw was less favourable than past seasons and aside from Campbelltown, we played all the leading sides. Other issues to influence performance were team spirit, lapses of concentration in the field, inability of bowlers to maintain pressure and the captaincy.

The early part of the season resulted in wins against only Penrith and Randwick where we should have reasonably expected several other wins, the matches were there to be won but eluded us.

The mid season program saw us matched against all the top sides and to be a realist they simply outplayed us and showed greater commitment. It was apparent team performance was enhanced by players wanting not only personal success but TEAM MATES to succeed as well.

At this stage, we were at the cross roads and it was pleasing to see the team pull things around by showing more commitment, enthusiasm and desire to win. We started playing as a unit and with the winning feeling, developed into a competitive side which hopefully will carry over to next season. We still need to work harder, believe in one's own ability and be more committed to the team as a whole.

When looking at individual performances of the team members there is plenty to be heartened by and positive about. Our opening partnership was the equal of any in the competition with Greg Bush showing wonderful consistency finishing with a great year, this will not go unnoticed by the treasurer. Greg's success was an example to all players highlighted by his concentration, application and fierce desire to succeed. He knows his limitations and plays to them, a very fine year and well done Bushy.

The other half of this partnership is Richard Fry who sets himself high standards and can be well pleased with his efforts. If Dick continues to produce the goods and display his enthusiasm for the game, further representative honours will come his way. Congratulations on your selection in the N.S.W. 2nd Eleven. Next season I would like to see Richard take a more inspirational role in the field.

Rowley Alexander's season was pleasing to all in the club who held high hopes for him. During the season we saw great development in his confidence, maturity and importantly, his shot selection. As to how far he progresses, this is firmly in his hands. I look forward to Rowley playing a leading role within the team in future.

Jon Robinson and Greg Hill had very similar seasons with the bat. Both played match winning innings but lacked consistency which let themselves down on various occasions. Jon will not be rejoining us from the U.K. next season and will be missed, however, I'm sure he has benefitted from his time with Manly. The side will be looking to Greg to step up the order and play a major role next season and I'm sure he will rise to the occasion. I cannot allow the opportunity pass without expressing what a fine team man Greg is. He often overlooked his own success in preference to the team and he will be a vital member next season.

Ross Drury had a disappointing season and only showed glimpses of his full ability. Ross needs to set higher goals and be single minded in attaining them.

Much the same may be said of Bruce Minnett and Anthony Dignan and in addition, they must develop a better and tougher mental attitude for they undoubtedly have the talent. It would be a shame if they never gave themselves a chance to fulfil their potential and it is frustrating to see players of talent not putting it to full use.

Our leading bowler was Warren Evans who produced many fine spells throughout the season. This was his first year as the lead bowler and on occasions, his inexperience was exposed. Warren combined in the latter part of the season with Shaun Bradstreet and these two young bowlers offer the club much to develop in the coming years. Shaun added greatly to the side with his consistency, hard work and a very positive attitude which rubbed off on the rest of the team. This season has been a learning experience and if Shaun can add extra pace, he will prove a handful for all batsmen. We can look forward to improvement in both these young players next season.

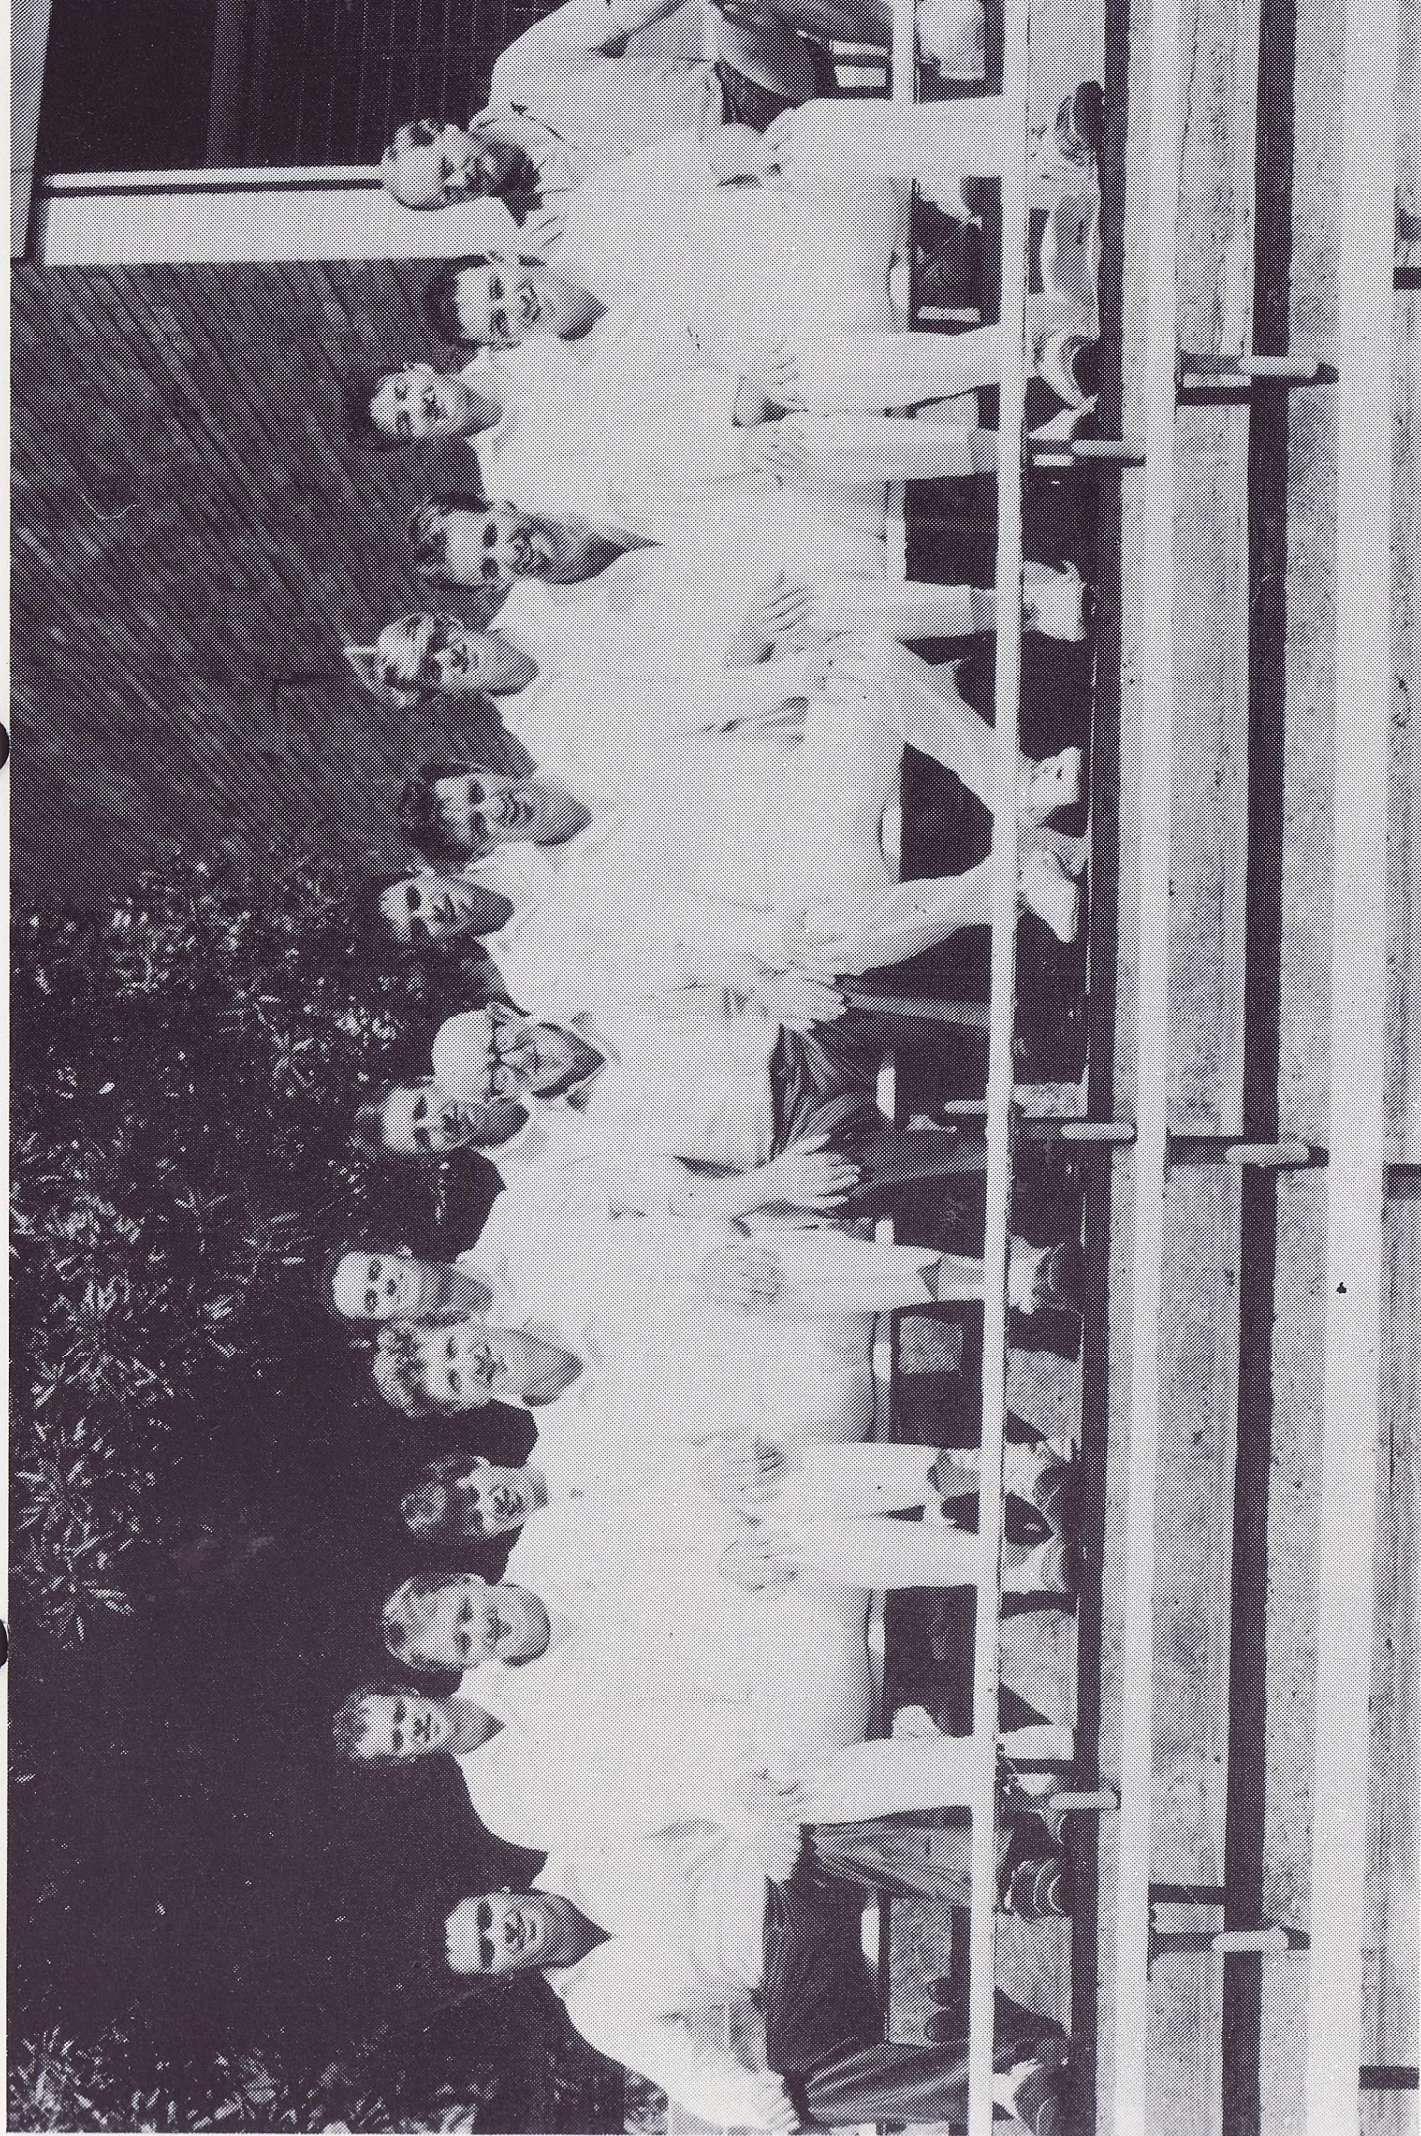

David Gainsford played most of season in 1st's and he is more than capable of regaining his spot if he can improve his fitness. He is a bowler of deceptive pace and if he can combine this with good control, he has a bright future. I was pleased to see a new attitude by David towards his batting and this will also be a help to him in regaining his spot.

We finished the season with Lee Pedrola as our fourth bowler and whilst gaining us vital break throughs he lacked control. This is something which he is working hard to improve upon. His fielding and attitude to the game were fabulous and greatly admired by myself and I'm sure his team mates.

Others to have played first grade were Peter King, Tim Blank, Miles Corish and Glenn Evans with the last three all ready to accept the challenge of a permanent spot. In Peter's case it is hoped he will be back to show us all just what he is capable of doing. He would be a fine player to have back in the team.

My thanks go to John Skiller our scorer who provided the team with hours of enjoyment when one read his statistics. He was ably assisted by Mr Geoff Rogers. We also received great support from Mr Jim Evans, Mr & Mrs Bradstreet and Mr & Mrs Pedrola. My thanks also go to the committee for their work throughout the year and in closing I'm sure we can look forward to a successful upcoming season.

Unfortunately this report concerns second grade's unsuccessful defence of a premiership achieved solely because of a total commitment to winning, built around close friendship and importantly, hard work.

Regrettably, these vital ingredients were absent throughout our cricket club during the past season culminating in results far below our potential and well below expectations.

This was of course compounded by the unavailability of several senior players who had previously formed the nucleus of the club's higher grades. However it is my firm belief that all second grade players chosen to defend the premiership this past season were capable of fulfilling that goal.

Here is where my disappointment lies. So often do we talk about that word "potential" and so often does it let us down. Unfortunately "potential" is merely an ideal which in 99 out of 100 cases, is only realised when accompanied with hard work.

Too often in second grade we were guilty of abusing the necessity to practise and thus we fell well short of full "potential" when competing at weekends. A close look at our team statistics will reveal a distinct lack of discipline, obtainable merely through training and practising properly.

Firstly, I refer to our batting which on numerous occasions let us down:-

- not one of our batsmen managed to score in excess of 500 runs for the season.

To be a force in the premiership, a team must consist of batsmen capable of, and willing to contribute big scores. Thirty, forty, fifty and even seventy are not good enough, and every one of our batsmen is guilty here. With greater emphasis put on training and better application to your job as a team member, these scores will grow.

Secondly, I refer to our fielding. Never have I experienced such frustrating times on the cricket field as I did this past year - and I don't even bowl! During our few years of success under the guidance of Allan Campbell (if you can remember) fielding became of paramount importance when at practise, and thus rarely did we let our bowlers down in a match.

Nobody means to drop a catch or misfield. However with genuine commitment to practise fielding, these basic skills, so desperately required to ensure success, will become habit.

I can only gather from this team's unwillingness to practise properly that each one of us believes it unnecessary. If that is the case then we are all guilty of vastly over-rating ourselves. If we were half as good as we think, Tim Blank would not be writing this report but Allan Border, or we would all bare black skin. Merely attending practise is useless unless that time is used to your benefit.

I only hope that in future, we, as individuals will be more aware of the necessity to practise properly. Those who argue that it's "only a game" or "we've got to have fun" seem to forget that winning becomes fun, and hard work becomes winning.

Having sifted through the woes of our season there are promising factors that I wish to mention.

Firstly I found my first season as Manly second grade captain immensely challenging and I would be happy to repeat the honour in the future. However I cannot hide my disappointment in our lack of discipline which caused our downfall, and I must accept responsibility for this.

I believe that every player who played second grade is technically capable of advancing to higher levels, however notwithstanding my previous comments, one must maximise their talents when seeking promotion.

In Miles Cornish, Manly has a potential (there's that word again) run machine. With the proper application and dedication Miles will be a key member of future Manly teams.

I would also like to make mention of the improvement in several players who were chosen in second grade.

Andrew Fraser showed throughout the season that second grade was not out of his depth and he eventually became a permanent and important member of our team. His 86 against Randwick under difficult circumstances was the knock of the season. Andrew's batting improved through his determination to succeed at this higher level. His noted "jet watching" all but disappeared and a continuation of this more responsible approach will see his continued success at Manly.

Glen Evans also displayed the improvement that we all know him capable of and in the latter half of the season showed form to suggest that he is ready to make that step into first grade.

After several outstanding performances in second grade it was an inevitable progression for Shawn Bradstreet and Lee Pedrola to be selected in the top grade. Shawn showed tremendous potential throughout the year and primarily through the addition of hard work, he is currently realising this. However Shawn must focus his attention solely on cricket rather than the unnecessary chat which accompanies it.

Lee Pedrola finally achieved first grade status, four years after his top grade debut. A captain cannot speak highly enough of Lee's contribution to his team. Lee's competitive nature ensures his total commitment to the team, and his all round skills become invaluable to a captain. Lee will frequently produce that little bit extra which has a great effect on his team mates. Thanks Lethal.

Lawrence Cronin also deserves mention. Lawrence began the season in second grade showing tremendous pace, however his lack of control and no-ball problems resulted in his relegation. To his credit, Lawrence produced whole hearted efforts for third grade and eventually succeeded in regaining his best form. With continued enthusiasm he is quite

I would also like to commend Craig Glasscock, David Price and Sean Parkinson for their contribution to second grade. Although relatively minor this year, all three players performed superbly and showed the ability to succeed at this level next year.

I must also make mention of the contribution made to second grade by Gavin Fletcher. Fletch, I'm sure would agree, had one of the most frustrating seasons in his career, with good bowling efforts escaping largely unrewarded. Too often were we, as fieldsmen, guilty of dropping catches, more often than not, from Fletch's bowling. I would personally like to thank Fletch for his assistance throughout the year which made my job as captain a lot easier. Both the team and the captain benefitted from his vast experience and will do in future seasons.

Thanks to Mark Williams who frequently lent his hand and gave valuable advice throughout the year. His wicket keeping never wavered from it's usual high standards.

Thanks to Kylie McPhee, our scorer who was unfortunately unavailable for the majority of the games. We all wish for her outstanding services to accompany second grade next year.

Thanks to Dallas Fletcher, Sue Fletcher, the Corish's, John Ford, the Bradstreet's, and in particular, Jim Evans. Without this outside support and help, grade cricket with Manly would not be the same, and the players wish to extend their sincere thanks.

May I take this opportunity to wish Jim Evans a fast and safe recovery for his illness. We all hope to see Jim back at Manly Oval next year, where his two sons will play a vital role.

I would like to conclude by saying that it is a credit to the "potential" of all players who represented second grade that we managed to finish as high as we did. Just goes to show you that with a little hard work we may have successfully defended the premiership. I look forward to next season and anticipate renewed enthusiasm and a more committed approach by all players.

THIRD GRADE CRICKET REPORT 1990/91

After being either premiers or runners-up in the last three seasons, one would be forgiven for thinking that the 1990-91 season for the Third Grade side was a failure, finishing fifteenth in the competition with only 32 points. Certainly, at the half-way mark with no wins and no points, I would certainly have agreed. However, from this point on, the team's performance improved remarkably and there was a number of positive features to come out of the season.

The season began with the team being made up of a number of new personnel, a lot of whom were inexperienced at this level of grade cricket. The lack of experience and the knowledge of how to win games was clearly evident earlier in the season. In almost all of these early games, the team had been in a winning position but was able to "snatch defeat from the jaws of victory". In previous years, the opposite had been the case.

After the Christmas break, however, with the addition of a couple of experienced players such as, Ken Pitcher and Laurence Cronin, the trend was slowly turned around with the team at the end of the season being very competitive. In fact, if games had been won earlier in the season, in my view, the team would have acquitted itself very well in the semi-finals.

Early in the season, the team certainly had problems bowling out the opposition. Our leading bowler was Tony Pitcher, who until he injured his back was certainly the team's most consistent performer with the ball. Without Tony's presence in the early games, we may well have been chasing some mammoth totals.

As mentioned above, Laurence Cronin's presence in the team was of great benefit. Each time he played, he was always able to put pressure on the opposition's batting line-up, as a result of which all our bowlers benefitted. In particular, the younger bowlers gained from his experience. Laurence is a valuable acquisition to our club and we look forward to his continuing next year.

One of the positive features of the season, was the improvement of Robert Parkinson throughout. Robert benefitted from the presence of Laurence Cronin and with greater concentration on his fitness, should look forward to a good season next year.

Another positive feature was the emergence of the two "young spinners", Darren Benson and Simon Couch. Darren played the last three games in Third Grade and improved markedly with each game. Simon played two games in the team, but indicated on each occasion that he is a player with a good future. Both boys provided a fine example to all players of the dedication that is required at practice, and with this continued effort, are sure to succeed.

If any player deserves success, it was Ken Donellan, who was without doubt, one of the hardest and most dedicated of all practicers. Unfortunately, this was not the case. Earlier in the season, Ken had no luck and in the latter part of the season, had restricted opportunities. There is no doubt, however, with Ken's attitude to training, that he will achieve the success he deserves in future seasons.

Rudi Burratini also played part of the season in Third Grade and clearly benefitted from his previous year's experience. Rudie is definitely the "quiet man" of any team, but with continued improvement, will take many more grade wickets.

On the batting side, the most positive feature of the season, was the maturing of Craig Glasscock as a batsman. His maiden century for the club (133 no versus Mosman) was a superb innings, and the first of no doubt many more for the club. Injuries and representative commitments curtailed Craig's appearances towards the end of the season, but we are certainly looking to him to have a big year next season. His wicket keeping in the games that he played was also first-class.

After a sluggish start, Peter Procopis also performed well with the bat realising the potential which we all know he possesses. Peter also deputised keeping wickets for Craig Glasscock and performed very credibly sometimes under very difficult conditions.

David Price came into the team in the latter half of the season and almost immediately made a lasting impression as a batsman of class. David finished the season averaging 69 in Third Grade, and if he continues in the same vein next season, it could well put pressure on the players in the higher grades.

Ken Pitcher, on coming into the side, added valuable experience and was always a steady hand in the middle order.

Sean Parkinson by his own standards would not have regarded the season as a successful one, however, demonstrated on a couple of occasions that he has the ability to concentrate for long periods of time. Next season, with perhaps a little more confidence in his batting, he will develop into a very valuable player.

Other contributions to batting were made by Anthony Morton, Brad Pamp and David Patterson.

All in all, a positive finish to the season as a result of which I believe there is cause for optimism in next season's performance.

I would like to thank all players in the side throughout the season for their efforts at practice and their assistance in making the season, if not an entirely successful one, at least an enjoyable one. I would also like to thank the many parents and girlfriends who assisted throughout the season for without their support, we would not have been able to function.

Last but by no means least, my thanks goes to my manager, Don Sellin, who once again demonstrated what an invaluable asset he is to the administration of any side. I look forward to him being back on deck next year.

Thank you.

FOURTH GRADE REPORT 1990/91

The 1990-91 Manly fourth grade season promised to be successful with early wins against Waverly and Mosman. However, somewhere after that we lost focus of our objective fouling to perform on a consistent basis. At times we excelled with the bat, bowled well and yet fielded abysmally. The side did not perform consistently as a team in all facets of the game.

However, I believe with the talent that smoulders in Manly fourth grade success is assured for the team and club.

To be fair to the side, there were outstanding performances from all of the players. Runs by and large, did not come freely however centuries were scored by Greg "Butch" Boyer and Todd "TB" Bartlett both when we were chasing runs ultimately leading to a victory. Throughout the season everyone contributed with the bat. Craig "Trots" Currie provided runs at vital times as did Andy Stewart, Greg Hayes, Darrin Benson, Anthony Pitt and Anthony Morten. The "comeback and immediate retirement" award would have to go to Jim "Doc" Stewart who arrived at the match against Penrith with minutes to spare, proceeded to calmly pad up, stroll to the wicket and flail the ball to all parts of the ground. Doc finished with 96 of the team's 217.

Other memorable performances included Darren Benson's fine innings of 58 against Sutherland sent in as the right watchman. Darrin displayed a fine sound technique.

Greg Hayes led the batting from the front. His ability to arrive at the crease and consistently score runs saved the team on more than one occasion.

Another player who was amongst the runs was Todd Bartlett. His century against Hawkesbury was to say the least dramatic. His century and the team's winning runs were scored with a boundary on the last ball of the day!!

"Butch" Boyer was sadly unavailable for half of the season. As a batsman, wicket keeper and captain, Butch bought the best out of every player.

In all we had 29 players line up for the fighting fourths all of whom contributed to the team's performance. Our thanks go out to them all.

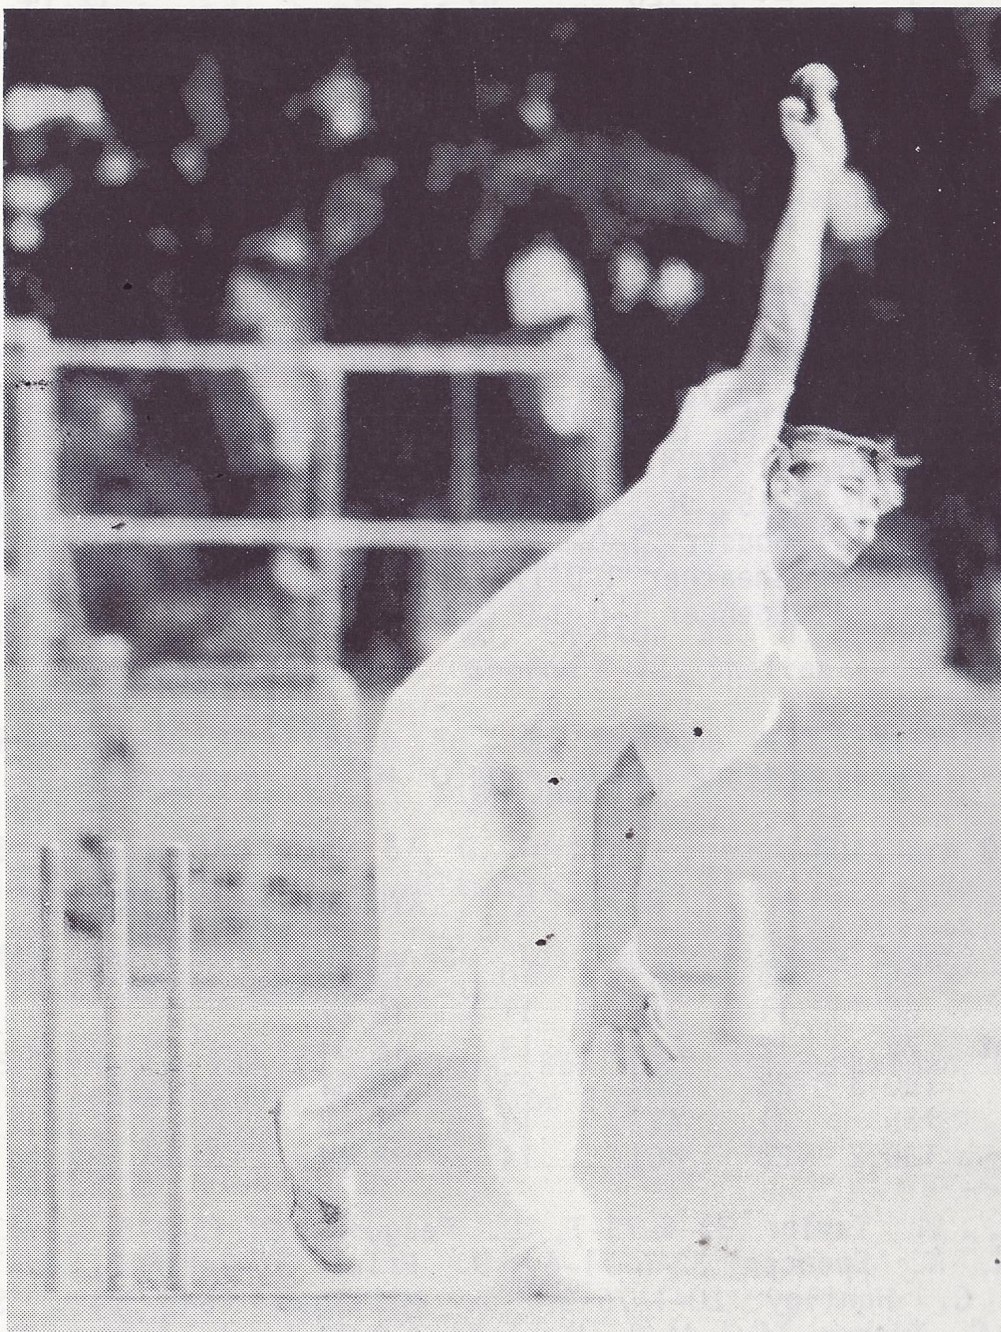

Our real strength lay with our bowlers. Our ability to field an attack worthy of a higher grade kept the team in contention at all times. Once again talent such as the "spin twins" Darren Benson and Simon Couch will not go unnoticed. Both players display maturity well beyond their years which once again assures Manly of future success. The opening combinations of Rudi Burratini, Darren Bradstreet and Greg Hayes gave the team a great platform on which to launch the final assault. These players were ably supported by Mark Taylor and Brad Glassock who took wickets when they were most needed.

Our fielding unfortunately let us down. Too often promising positions were lost due to a basic element of the game. It is here where more emphasis must be placed at training and on the field of play.

In summary although the season was disappointing with regards to our final placing, great heart can be taken with the knowledge that substantial talent is lurking in the club. Our thanks must go to Mr & Mrs Currie and Mrs Couch who provided the well needed sustenance between innings.

Until next season!!!

FIFTH GRADE REPORT 1990/90

It is with pleasure that I write the Fifth Grade report for 1990/91.

The "Fighting Fifths" ended the season mid-table, not the elevated heights that the side has been accustomed, but a creditable position given the high player turnover that we experienced.

Some points need to be made that will qualify the predicament that Fifth Grade, and the Club, was in at the start of the season.

The loss of 15 players in the off season, not to other clubs but from the game, was instrumental to the decay in Manly's performances. Add this with the rain affected selection trials which attracted only 17 trialists. Thus the deep pool of players, that had been instrumental in our success, had dried up into a shallow puddle.

Putting those comments aside, I believe the Club deserved to have the season it had. Training epitomized our performances on the field. Cricket is a game of self discipline and this was lacking throughout the Club.

Bowlers repeatedly bowled from 18 yards and peppered batsmen with teeth balls. This did nothing to improve the bowlers performance and only succeeded in wilting the confidence and will of most of the batsmen. This is evident in the Club's paltry aggregates and averages in both bowling and batting, with the exceptions of G. Bush, R. Fry and R. Alexander in First Grade.

Batsmen were also at fault. Incessantly slogging was the order of the day at training. Very few concentrated the full time they were in the nets on playing each ball on its merits. I was guilty of this, hence my performance is reflected in the averages.

As for fielding, few players practiced effectively ie. under pressure. Sure many went out and had a catch and giggle, but little tested themselves. This was evident in matches, where instead of having to take ten wickets in an innings, we would invariably need to take sixteen, as consistently catches were grassed.

The moral to us as a Club is that "you only get out what you put in". Each player should strive to make their weaknesses strengths and develop their cricketing skills to the fullness of their potential. This can only be accomplished by determined self disciplined practice and the will to improve.

Two players that exemplified this attitude were Craig "Suitcase" Ferguson and Morgan "Gallop Poll" Youell. Neither missed one practice session which resulted in tremendous improvement in their performances by the end of the season.

The season produced some meritorious performances.

With the bat David Price scored a fabulous 100 against Mosman, demonstrating that he has class stamped all over him. Todd Bartlett belted North Sydney around the ground when he scored 138. To look at Todd's stance, a bowler would always think he was a chance, however, his great eye and range of shots soon dispels this misconception. He could be anything.

Anthony "Mr Bubbles" Pitt won the batting average this year with some gutsy and classy knocks. His first "digs" in Grade were ordinary (he would agree, I am not unkind here), but to his credit he fought back. Matthew "Virgil" Tood showed glimpses of his punishing batting. I expect next season to see him get some big scores. As a gully fieldsman, he is unparalleled by anyone in the Club. "Virgil" also proved to be a very good leg spinner who deserves more opportunities. Andy Mason also deserves recognition for his solid batting performances.

With the ball, Scott "The Phantom" Shelton once again took a swag of wickets and won the bowling average. He is a class bowler with a terrible attitude to training. How someone with so much talent can let it go to waste is beyond my comprehension.

Dave "Sheik" Fennell contributed with some youthful performances. After struggling to find his line, length and some luck, the oldest 26 year old in the world, bowled exceptionally well and made his way up to the higher Grades. Sheik is also a more than handy middle order bat who scored plenty of runs this season with limited opportunities.

Darren Bradstreet and Morgan Youell were the big improvers of the "green peas". Both worked hard on their game and always gave 110% whether with the bat or ball. How far these players progress is up to them, as the talent is there.

Jim Stewart again proved that whenever you put a bat in his hand, you are going to have to struggle to get him out. He continues to score runs by toiling and working the ball around the park with such ease, that it suggests there is still another good ten seasons in him. The Doctor has been of tremendous help and support during my time as Captain, and for this I am most grateful.

I would like to thank all those that I have had the pleasure to lead at Manly, and hope that your time with me was as rewarding for you as it has been for me.

POIDEVIN GRAY SIDE

POIDEVIN-GRAY REPORT

The 1990-1991 Poidevin-Gray season will be remembered as a year of missed opportunities. It was a young side, with most of the players having several more seasons left to play. It was a side capable of playing some of the best quality cricket in the competition, but unfortunately it lacked the consistency to do so.

Our first game saw us pitted against a strong Balmain outfit. On a plum track, our bowlers toiled well in the hot conditions having the home team 6/106 at lunch. Shawn Bradstreet, Warren Evans and Rob Parkinson all impressed with the ball, keeping the Balmain batsmen tied down. Unfortunately after lunch we relaxed, allowing Balmain to reach 9/206. Our first batting innings of the year was not a memorable one! After one hour in the middle, with the top order gone, we were 6/32. Peter Procopis, Craig Glassock and Todd Bartlett salvaged some pride for Manly, in the end we managed 164.

Our next game was against Hawkesbury, and once again we made the tiresome trek to the notorious Benson's Lane. Bowling first, in what were the worst conditions I have ever played in, (45 degrees and cyclonic winds!) we dismissed Hawkesbury for 175. Rob Parkinson 4/38 and Simon Couch 2/42 did a great job under the circumstances. This time we took control with the bat. Sean Parkinson got us away to a great start, eventually he fell for 68 and with overs to spare, we had reached our target. Peter Procopis and Anthony Morton chipped in well to notch up our first win.

Then playing Petersham we once again showed ability with the ball. Shawn Bradstreet tore apart the home side, and in a masterful spell he claimed 7/42. Petersham were all out for 138. The batsmen applied to the task, passing the home side 3 down to create our second win.

Losing Shawn Bradstreet to the U/19 Australian Championships didn't help our cause against a tough Northern District side. We battled in the field with Northern Districts amassing 7/250. Warren Evans was the pick of our bowlers 4/80 off 24 overs. Our batting faulted under pressure and we finished the day 9/191. Peter Procopis 34 and Todd Bartlett 40 both played some nice shots, with Todd hitting two enormous sixes, one onto the tennis courts and the other onto Sydney Road.

Playing Sydney University next, who were at that stage undefeated, the boys showed great commitment. Batting first we managed just 110. Brad Pamp batted elegantly for his 40, but unfortunately went unsupported. A loss looked inevitable but Warren Evans had other ideas. Bowling in what was his quickest spell for the season, he bowled unchanged to claim 5/54 off 28 overs. Rob Parkinson and Scot Bartlett's contributions proved vitally important as the game tightened up, and in a nail biter we rolled Uni for 98.

The Gordon match proved an exact re-run of the previous year. Batting well we reached a seemingly unbeatable of 242. Peter Procopis and Sean Parkinson showed their class in the middle scoring 37 not out and 31 respectively. This put us in good shape against a Gordon outfit which included 9 first and second grade players, and we were confident going into the field. However our elation was short lived. Rain interrupted the Gordon innings twice, the second time leaving them with only 27 runs to get off 7 overs. Last years scenario repeated itself, and they passed us in the final over, a game which was the most frustrating of the year.

The last two games were against old rivals North Sydney and Mosman. In the game against North Sydney, Rob Parkinson bowled superbly throughout their innings finishing with 5/72. Chasing 228, we collapsed badly reeling at 7/76 by tea. After this Shawn Bradstreet showed his talent as an allrounder scoring a patent 40. We ended the day all out for a disappointing 150.

Against Mosman our bad luck with the rain once again prevailed. After a slow start we were in a position to mount a good score against our opponents. Sean Parkinson batted well for 47 and he was supported by Peter Procopis' 30. After lunch the rain came down making our total of 8/147 off 42 overs very gettable. We fought hard again in the field but unfortunately we were passed with 2 overs to go. Shawn Bradstreet and Rob Parkinson bowled well, followed by Anthony Morton who took a wicket in his first over, and then followed it up with a ball that went one bounce and into the fence.

So in the end it was a rather ordinary showing for a side that promised so much but failed to get it together. I felt that our team was capable of beating every club in the competition. The differences lay in the way that our opponents would string together a series of good results with both the bat and ball, not just with one or the other. Shawn Bradstreet, Warren Evans and Rob Parkinson were our most consistent bowlers while Sean Parkinson, Peter Procopis and Shawn Bradstreet all showed their talent with the bat.

Firstly I would like to thank Donny "Dollars" Sellin who did a commendable job as scorer, his help at both the matches and off the field was greatly appreciated. I would also like to thank Billy Bradstreet, our Manager, and Lee Pedrola, Coach, who willingly gave their time to make the season an enjoyable one. Thanks also goes to the Ladies that organised our teas, everyone agreed that they were a sensation.

Lastly I would like to thank the boys themselves whose support throughout the matches made my job a lot easier. I believe that every player in our side has the ability to play higher level cricket, the talent is there and with application all the boys have bright futures. Next year as more mature cricketers and with more dedication, I am confident that we will be extremely competitive. It was an honour for me to captain the side and I hope that you all enjoyed it as much as I did.

LEE PEDROLA

Overall the team performed most creditably with patches of brilliance throughout the series. Experience is a key ingredient in shield cricket and we had the slim advantage of only one player blooded in the previous year's series. The four juniors in this year's team, Simon, Brian, Andrew and Murray all performed well and will provide a robust nucleus for next year's team.

A feature of the series was Craig Currie's skilful and enthusiastic captaincy which was recognised in his selection as captain of the No. 2 Northern Combined Representative team. He led by example, took out the bowling average and aggregate as well as the batting average with a credible 291 aggregate. Craig is a talented young cricketer with great potential to be realised.

Vice captain, leg spinner, Simon Couch contributed strongly, frequently tying down batsmen but was relatively unrewarded with wickets considering the persistently high quality of his bowling. His aggressive fielding was rewarded with some spectacular catches.

Stuart Baker, from Taree, provided our most punishing attack with the new ball and was able to sustain an accurate line and length in early innings. His batting was a little erratic but he obliterated Mosman's attack with three enormous sixes into the tennis courts and into Sydney Rd. Darren Bradstreet played a similar role to Stuart with big hitting that swung the Balmain game out way in a nail biting finish. Consider Darren's strong potential his bowling was menacing but not penetrating.

Paul Brenner and Mathew Phillips both contributed promising performances until they suffered broken limbs in Round 6 forcing them to be frustrated spectators for the rest of the series. Paul contributed fighting 47 in that Parramatta game displaying the full range of stroke. Mathew has the potential to be a most accomplished all rounder.

Our opening bats were major run getters with Brian Clemow, a junior from Gosford, being a match winner in a number of games and just missing out on claiming the club record aggregate with 379 runs. His quality was noted in his selection in the Northern Combined team. John Brown was a little hesitant in early games but dominated Northern Districts' opening attack to pave the way for a strong win. Graeme Turner's patience saw him come up with two valuable innings of 63 and 100 runs. Murray Cox, a junior from Taree, proved to be a very talented upper order batsman. His calm approach under pressure enabled him to make good starts, but with more experience he will be able to turn the 30's into 100's. He was selected in the Northern Combined No.2 team.

Cameron Bathgate is a promising all-rounder but he wasn't able to get into full stride and displayed only glimpses of his true aggressive batting and accurate medium pace bowling. His fielding was excellent all times. David Dinning had a frustrating season with a nagging back problem. Despite that his opening bowling spells of hostile left arm swing bowling against Northern Districts and Balmain contributed strongly to our wins.

We were fortunate in having two keepers chosen by the club selectors but that meant that the boys had to cope with fewer match opportunities. Greg Gately took the limited opportunities and performed creditably being alert and producing crisp glove work behind the stumps. Andrew Nealon, a junior from Gosford, performed commendably and brought off some brilliant diving catches.

Thanks to all those parents who gave their time and support so generously in backing up the boys' efforts. In particular, thanks to Dave Brown for umpiring spells and Judy Dinning and her team for providing excellent afternoon teas.

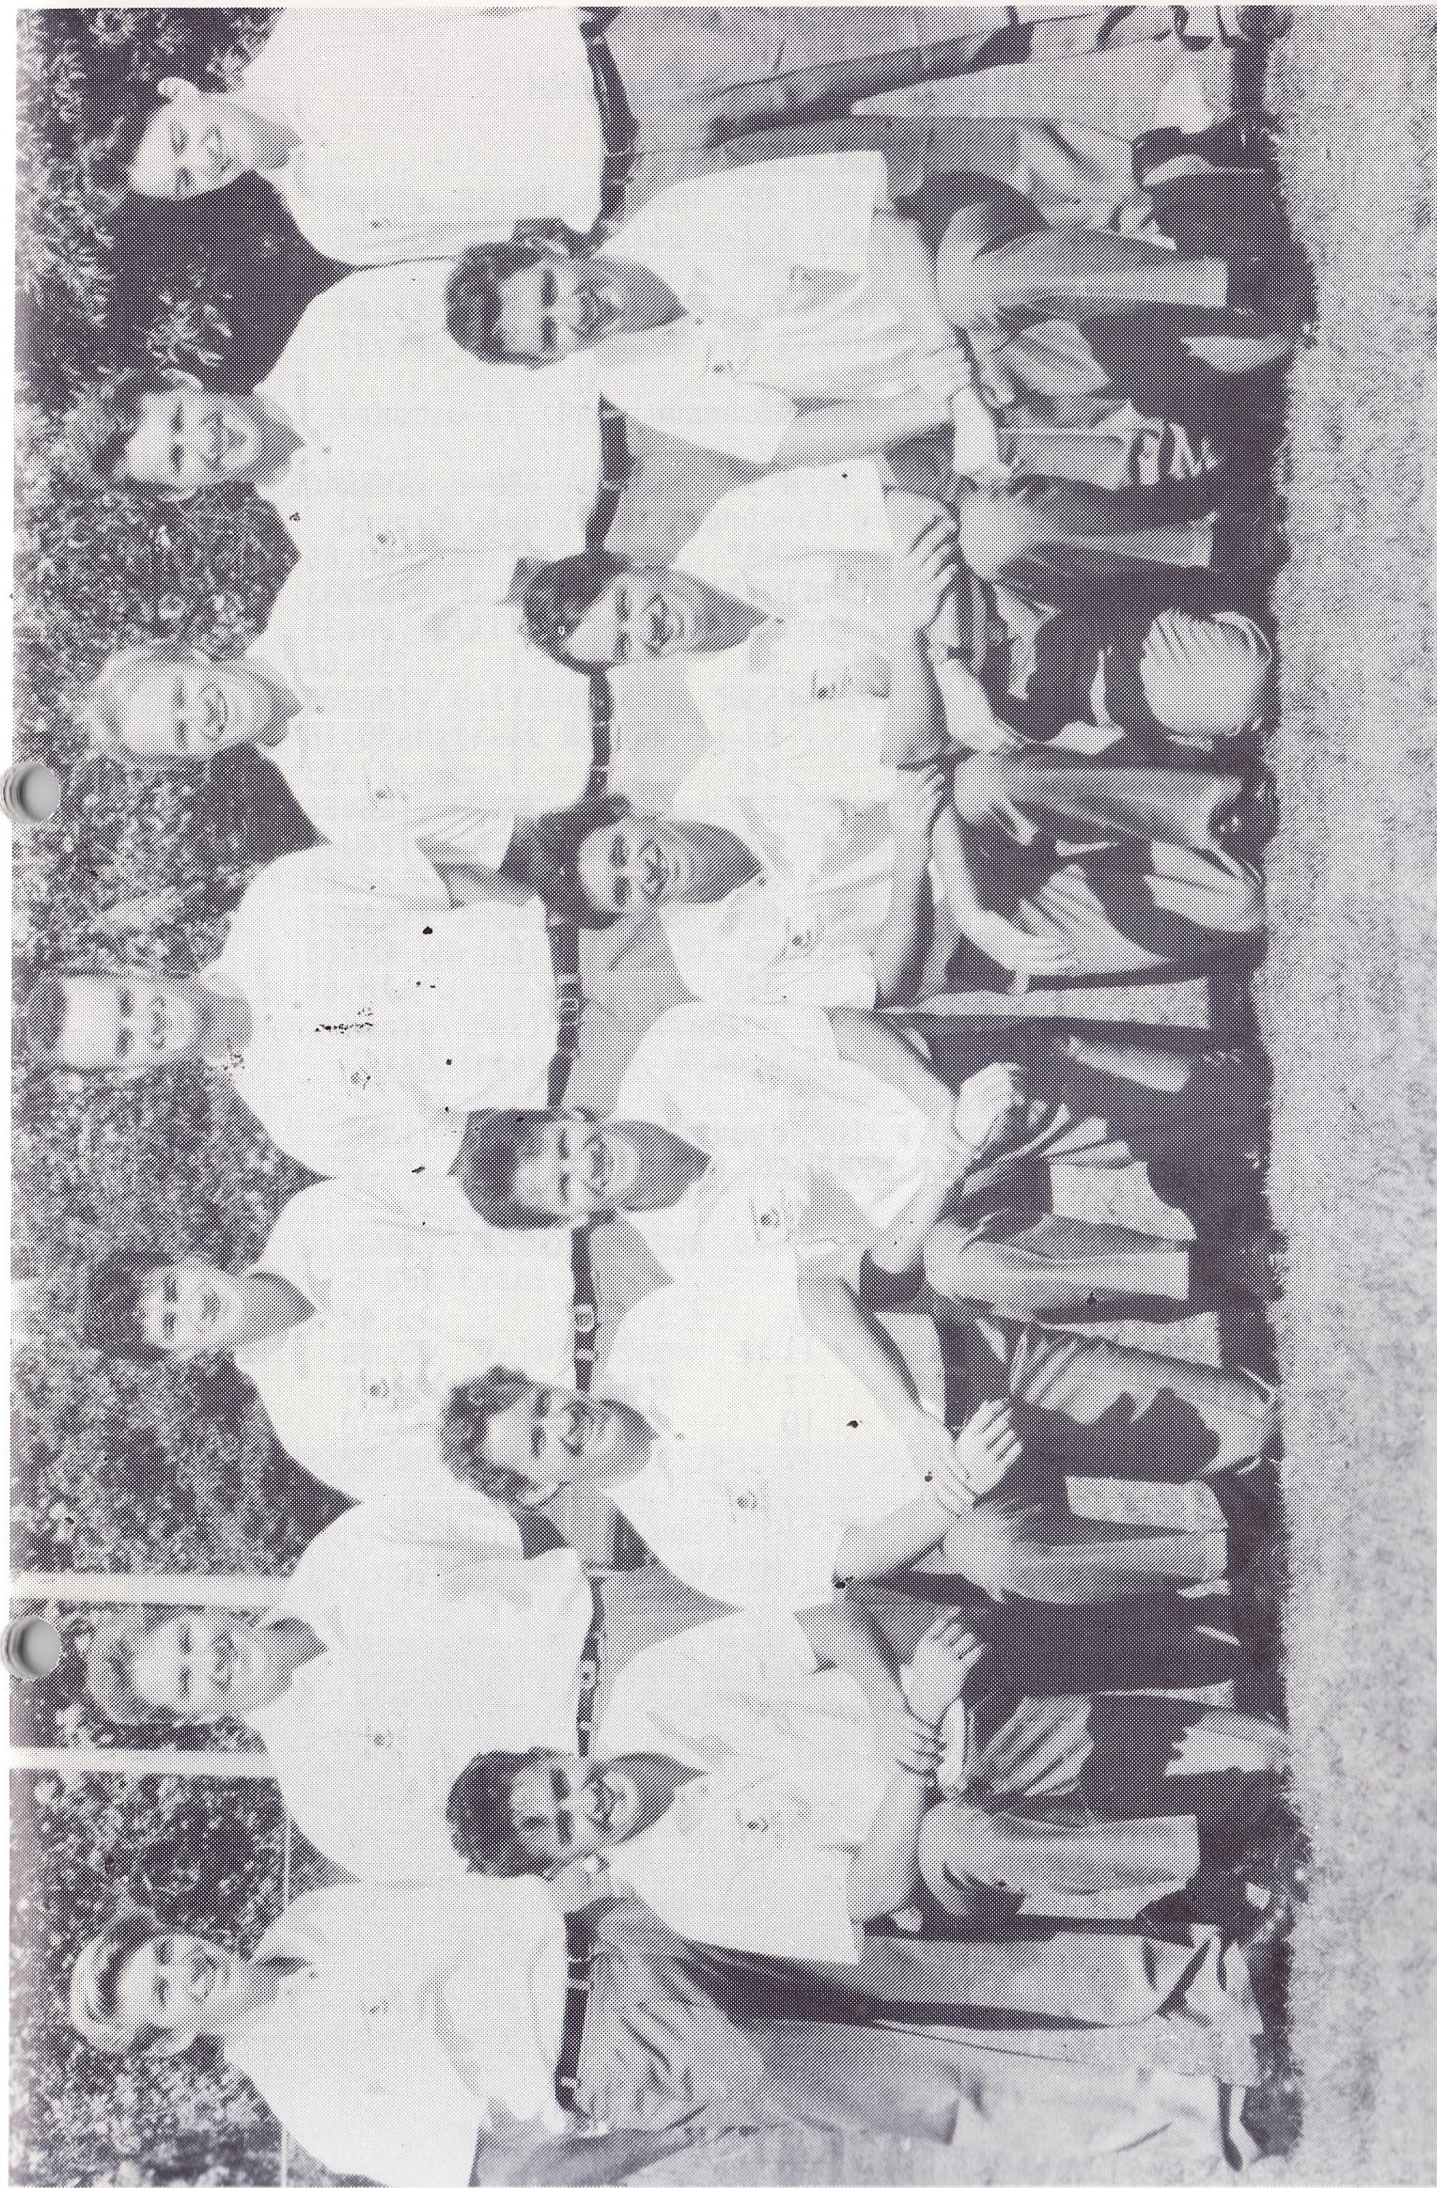

Tony Scanlon must be thanked for coaching sessions and general support throughout the series. Thanks also to David Patterson and Don Millin for their efforts.

Good luck to all the boys in their senior cricket careers. They played well with the extended shield competition and many of them have displayed the skills and personal qualities necessary to go on to high levels of the game.

Bob Brenner and Gordon Currie, Managers.

VICTORY SMILES

MANLY U.K. TOUR CRICKET REPORT 1991

Wow! What a fantastic tour it was. The many months (19 in fact) of meetings, negotiations and fundraising, were all forgotten once we boarded BA Flight 10 for Bangkok on 26th April 1991. Little did any of the tour members know that the next 38 days were to be filled with enough cherished memories to last a lifetime.

Our tour was nothing short of an outstanding success. We were undefeated until our last match against a French national team, where we could not field 11 players due to injuries. It was a superb effort considering the strength of some of the opposition teams which invariably consisted of 3-4 county players. It was obvious once we'd won our first couple of games, that there was a great sense of pride amongst the boys and we would do out utmost not to lose a game against a "pommie" side. That almost proved too difficult a task on 4 or 5 occasions, however, we showed great determination and courage to win those tight matches. That Manly spirit was evident, even though we were some 10,000 miles away.

To play in English conditions, certainly was an experience, one that can only benefit all of us in future seasons. Cricket certainly is a way of life in England, and the hospitality displayed by our opposition clubs was remarkable. We were treated to some amazing feasts, as well as after match functions which included many drinking games and tricks - some of which I'm sure we'll see at the Room at the Top next season.

We covered 5 countries in all - Thailand, England, Scotland, Holland and France. The various cultures provided us all with a wider education of life. We travelled some 5000 kilometres in our mini bus throughout England and Scotland, taking in some spectacular sights along the way.

This tour for some time was being billed as "The Trip of a Lifetime", and only now can I say that that is an understatement. The 13 strong party did not just return to Sydney as team mates, but as good friends. The camaraderie and relationships that evolved from this tour, had to be seen to be believed.

It wouldn't be fitting if I didn't present a brief summation of each tour member, all of whom I cannot speak highly enough of:-

1. David (Alfred) Patterson: David did a fantastic job as treasurer on tour, not an easy task - but he excelled. Undoubtedly the tidiest room mate I had all tour. His solo performance at the Torquay kareoke night was a legendary effort. Scored a great 68 against Ayr in Scotland.
2. Ben (Rain Man) Lamb: Ben enjoyed his hotel rooms so much, he spent more time in them, than out of them. Obviously, not fully recovered from his recent illness, Benny struggled at times with his fitness - namely in Bangkok, where he smashed 34 before having to retire due to exhaustion (coupled with his 4 a.m. exit from Queens Castle Niteclub the previous evening). Rain Man was obviously in his element on the Amsterdam leg of the tour. You've never seen a man so happy.

3. Warren (The Hunter) Evans: Big Wazza was second only to Ben in the Z stacking department. Scored a couple of 40's, just to prove to the Captain that he CAN bat. Sensational 4-32 against Southgate. Wazza took over from Weeksey as team "analyst" late in the tour. Great room mate as he does not snore.
4. Anthony (Professor) Dignan: First time away from home for Digs - ran up a 60 pound phone bill early in the tour. Couple of swashbuckling 60's - should do well in his stint with Finchley. Almost lost his Professor tag late in the tour, to prove that this trip was a great character builder for Digs. Worst snorer on tour, without a doubt!
5. Brad (Cadburys) Pamp: The star of the stage on tour. Pampy could never be accused of not having a go. Very interesting watching Brad develop over the 5 weeks, certainly a great learning experience for him, which will auger well for his venture to the U.S. next month. Brad should think seriously about starting up a sandwich shop!
6. Andy (Big Fulla) Stewart: Andy was one of the great characters on tour. Always had a smile on his face and a pint in his hand. Had to meet up with his fiancée, Viv, halfway through the tour, for a "drying out period". Tremendously competitive in the field, his enthusiasm lifted us all when we needed it most. The Bangkok Polo Ground was a flat surface before Andy undulated it with his scintillating dives in the field. His version of "My Way" with Boo Boo at the Torquay kareoke night was a tour highlight.
7. Greg (Dad) Hill: Although Hilly only spent 2 weeks on tour with us, I'm sure it felt like 2 months for him. It was a great pleasure batting with Hilly for the first time - a comment echoed by 3 other players on tour. He certainly showed the way in the English conditions with a superb 64 against Southgate early in the tour. His 17 pint effort in Taunton with Weeksey was a superhuman feat! Enjoyed being called Greg's son in a Somerset nightclub - hence the nickname "Dad".
8. Greg (Malta) Hayes: Hazy should tour more often, as I've never seen him play the game with so much enthusiasm. Very determined when called on to bat, and a match winning bowling performance against Littleborough, although he'd be a little bit disappointed with his bowling overall. Whenever no-one ever seemed physically capable of driving the mini bus "Malta" would always volunteer. I would like to thank Greg for the assistance he gave in co-ordinating this tour. He is also a shocking snorer!
9. David (Jughead) Gainsford: A great tourist - Gainsy was on fire this tour. His regular one-liners on the mini bus kept us all amused, as well as ensuring that no-one had any "power snoozes". Bowled extremely well on tour without any luck at all. Always a fierce competitor who shocked some of the English lads with his aggression. Unfortunately, Jughead had to leave us a week early because he missed Gina so much. Thanks also David, for the support from Puma!

10. Mark (Lippy) Williams: Well Boo Boo certainly lived up to his tag of the marathon man, although he openly admitted to running into half a dozen brick walls after the Bristol leg. Mark was a great bloke to have in our tour party, both on and off the field. He'll be long remembered for his consumption of a jug to defeat the opposition team in Scotland. Mark is spending the rest of the year in London, and we all wish him well. I'd also like to thank Mark for all his assistance towards the organisation of this tour. He is also a shocking snorer and teeth grinder.
11. Richard (Office Worker) Weekes: Well, what can one say to describe Weeksey. He was our "father figure" on tour. His dictaphone captured some hilarious moments and will make for interesting listening once the tapes have been produced. It was such a surprise for Richard to be the last one to arrive at the airport on departure day. Richard's psychology and analysing certainly left a lot of the English lasses in a somewhat bemused state. Whenever things were not running smoothly, I could always look to Weeksey for his advice - he would always provide me with at least 4 theories that I could try. Richard, I will treasure our evening in the Hard Rock Cafe in Amsterdam! Couple of great 50's - hope to see you back next season!
12. Shawn (Wingy) Bradstreet: Save the youngest till last. Well, Shawn was the success story of the tour (cricket-wise). 26 wickets and over 200 runs including his maiden century. A tremendous effort and he should have plenty of clubs knocking on his door when he goes over to England for a season in 1992. Shawn is very fortunate to have gone on a tour like this at such a young age. You can never learn anything unless you listen, and Shawn was all ears on this tour! It was a great education for Shawn, both on and off the field and I'm sure he'll benefit as much as anyone else from this tour. Torquay is a place Shawn will not forget in a hurry!

I must also make special mention of Gary (Elmafud) Lennon who joined us for one week of the tour and scored a brilliant 135 against Littleborough. He had no trouble slotting into the touring party and we all enjoyed his company. Gary plays with Sydney Uni, although if he returns to Sydney next season, he would be a great acquisition for Manly!

Finally, my personal thanks to all my team mates for making this tour such an enjoyable and unforgettable experience. For those of you who contemplated going on the tour, but procrastinated too long and never went, "You don't know what you missed!"

Regards,
Andrew Fraser
Team Captain

MANLY-WARRINGAH DISTRICT CRICKET CLUB

MANLY CUP COMPETITION

Twelve entries were received for this competition which is for open age secondary school teams. For some schools, the competitions sponsored by the Manly Club are the only inter-school matches that they play.

Difficulties arise, with the involvement of Year 12 students and examination requirements, in this competition with most schools arranging their matches in Term 1 of the school year. Fortunately, the weather did not cause any disruptions and Beacon Hill High met North Sydney Boys High in the final on Manly Oval on 27th March.

Beacon Hill, well served by A. Morton 41, G. Glassock 33 and P. Brenner 20 scored 132 and were able to dismiss North Sydney for 114. Simon Crouch took 3/23 for the winners.

MANLY SHIELD COMPETITION

This competition for secondary school boys, 15 years, attracted eleven entries. The matches, played on a limited over basis, during the 1990-91 season resulted in North Sydney Boys High playing Cromer High in the final at Grahams Reserve.

Batting first North Sydney scored 182 from their 40 overs and were able to dismiss Cromer for 142 with seven overs to spare. For the winners, N. Goodwin top scored with 65 which included three sixes and seven fours.

My thanks go to the Manly Club for their support for school cricket. These competitions have been played for the last ten years and have become an integral part of the schools sports programmes.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS CUP 1990

Thirty schools were invited to contest the entry ballot. It was somewhat disappointing that only 13 schools chose to enter, thus creating a situation whereby 3 schools drew a round one bye.

Some excellent cricket was played throughout the competition before Mimosa and Beacon Hill Schools qualified for the final.

This match was played on David Thomas Reserve and we were fortunate to have the services of two qualified umpires in Mr. Geoff Parish and Mr. Jeff Rowley.

Congratulations to Mimosa Public School for winning the Primary Cup for the second consecutive year.

- * That every effort be made to have 16 schools compete.
- * That a date for the final be set in the second last week of the school year.
